

Building Plans Near Completion

Chapel-auditorium plans are progressing rapidly, according to Pres. C. H. Becker. Wartburg students may look forward to the year 1960, when it will be available for use. Work on the library is also going ahead.

The Board of Regents has set its fall meeting date for Nov. 6, at which time one of the items for discussion will be the new chapel-auditorium. Estimated cost for the structure is $250,000 without equipment. However, the "Pre-merger program" of the American Lutheran Church allows $200,000 for that purpose.

The Building Committee will release plans for bidding in about thirty days, bids to be called in three weeks from that date.

Profs At Conference

C. Robert Larson, Music Department; Dr. G. J. Neumann, head of the English Department; and Dr. Wolfgang Wessling, German Department, are attending the annual Lutheran College Faculties Conference being held on the campus of Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn., this weekend.

Theme of the conference is "Theology in the Social Sciences."

Leadership retreat for all interested Wartburg students was the main item discussed at Student Senate Monday and Senate Executive Committee meeting Tuesday.

Centering about the theme "Follow Me," the retreat will be held at Heery Woods State Park, Clarksville, Oct. 11. The day's activities, which are free, will begin at 8 a.m. and end at 7:30 p.m.

Workshops Planned

Each workshop will be slanted towards the faculty member present. Students will lead discussion of topics relative to the instructor's particular field.

Forming the backbone of the five workshops are G. R. Bjorgan, History Department, with discussion leader Jim Schwarz, senior; Thomas Kay, History Department, with Norman Braatz, senior; Dr. Lotus Knief, Psychology Department, with Norman Litzner, junior; Dr. Ottersberg with Herbert Hafermann, senior; and Robert Smith, Speech Department, with Howard Schroeder, junior.

Action-Packed Homecoming Scheduled

By Linda Mugridge

Oct. 25 is the day for Wartburg's 1958 Homecoming. Based on the theme "Firm Foundations," festivities will begin Oct. 24 and continue through Oct. 26.

Kastle Kapers will keynote the three-day celebration Oct. 24. The student variety show is plotted around the theme "Holiday Knights," according to senior co-directors, Keith Lunde and Louis Becker. Fireworks will be an innovation at the traditional bonfire and pep rally held on North Field after the show.

Strike Up The Band

Homecoming parade will progress down Bremer Avenue Saturday, Oct. 25. In addition to the Wartburg band, 26 high school bands have been invited to participate, according to soph Dave Grube, parade chairman. Floats will again be competing for prizes.

"Tame the Tigers" will be the cry as the Wartburg Knights tangle with the Iowa Wesleyan Tigers at Schield Stadium Saturday afternoon. Coronation of the Homecoming queen, a senior elected by the Student Body a week before Homecoming, will take place during halftime.

Dining and dancing are in order for Saturday evening. Dr. Arthur Becker, professor of pastoral counseling at Capital Seminary, Columbus, Ohio, and son of Wartburg's president, will speak at the banquet. Serving as master of ceremonies is James Roevers, 1957 Wartburg graduate from Reedsburg, Wis.

The semi-formal Homecoming Ball in Knights Gymnasium will provide the dancing portion of the evening. It is slated to follow the Parents Reception, also to be held in the gym. Parents are invited to remain for the ball, which is based on the theme "Harvest Holiday." The Blue Dominoes, New Hampton, will play.

Dr. A. L. Braun, president of the Minnesota District of the American Lutheran Church, will conduct worship services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Sunday, Oct. 26. Wartburg conferred an honorary doctorate upon Dr. Braun at last spring's Commencement.

Clinton Hall Dedication

Clinton Hall, first men's dormitory built at Wartburg in 39

years, will be dedicated Sunday afternoon in Knights Gymnasium. A key-exchanging ceremony will take place in the Clinton Hall lounge after the gathering in the gym. Student Body Pres. James Schwarz will participate in the ceremony.

Speaking at the dedication will be Dr. E. G. Fritschel, Denver, Colo. Central District president since 1945. Dr. Fritschel is third vice president of the American Lutheran Church. He graduated from Wartburg at Clinton in 1924.

Homecoming queen and her court will hold sway at the Queen's Reception in Clinton Hall lounge after the dedication. The public is invited to attend.

Series Has Concert

Climaxing the weekend is the season's first Artist Series presentation Sunday night. The Danish National Orchestra will give a concert in Knights Gymnasium.

Advance tickets will be sold for the Artist Series, Kastle Kapers, banquet and ball.

Homecoming novelties may also be obtained in advance, according to soph Don Claggett, novelties chairman. Confetti will be added to the usual assortment of balloons, banners, buttons and bells.

Wartburg students are also eligible for contests held in conjunction with the celebration. Dormitory Open House is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. Prizes will be awarded to rooms judged superior in cleanliness, conduciveness to study and other features.

A number of strictly alumni events are also listed for the weekend. Six class reunions, alumni chapel, coffee hour, annual meeting and luncheon are on the agenda.

MU Conduct Tropic Topic For Council

Student conduct in the Union lounge was the main topic discussed at the Student Memorial Union Council meeting Wednesday.

Actions of students in the lounge had been referred to the Council by the Student Senate, and the subject was discussed at great length. No formal action was taken.

Commenting on the deliberation, Council member Helen Rae Mueller, senior, said, "We are quite concerned about the conduct of the students in this building. It is a public building with pastors, parents and friends passing through quite frequently."

That no private place exists on campus for couples was pointed out. The council agreed that this presented a difficult situation.

Bringing Den products into the lounge and throwing waste-paper on the floor were also brought to the Council's attention. The practices are against lounge rules.

For Choir Fans

Several seats in the 95-passenger chartered plane to be used on the Wartburg Choir's European tour are still available to students presently at Wartburg. Wartburg alumni and members of their immediate families. Information concerning the flight and reservation request forms are now posted on the north bulletin board in Luther Hall. All those interested please take note.

Directories Coming!

Student Directories for 1958-59 will be coming out within the next week, according to directory editor, Ed Schaley, senior.

Envelopes for securing directories will be distributed in student mail boxes soon and must be returned with 35c to the mail room window. Directories will be deposited in mail boxes.

Three Attend Meet

Association of College Presidents conducted a workshop at Lake Okoboji for all college presidents, academic deans and public relations men Sept. 22 and 23.

Dr. J. O. Chellevoid, Wartburg dean of faculty, served as chairman of the deans' group and was re-elected to the same position for the meeting next fall.

Others attending from Wartburg were Pres. C. H. Becker and Admissions Director Fred Thompson.

Get Your Room

Reminder: Anyone wishing to reserve a room on campus for meetings of organizations has to visit the Public Relations Office and put it on the Calendar. In this way rooms will be available for your use and there will not be two meetings in the same room.

Bernhard To Speak For Tuesday Convo

Dr. Harold E. Bernhard, director of the Bureau of Religious activities at Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, will speak at Tuesday's convocation. The subject of his talk will be "Narrow and Wide." Dr. Bernhard, a Lutheran minister, is professor of religious literature at ISTC.

Student Body meeting normally scheduled for Thursday will not be held this month. The regular faculty meeting will, however, be held.

Students are urged by Student Body President Jim Schwarz to attend the leadership retreat Oct. 11. Current student government activities will be discussed at the retreat.

Packing Again?

Hey! Wait a minute! Don't pack that suitcase!

I know, you might have a thousand different reasons for going home every other weekend, but does it contribute to your college life? Well, maybe there's a girl at home, or a weekend job, but we can't all be commuters.

Is this a seven-day college, or don't you care to make it one? This really does affect all of us, whether we're willing to admit it or not. When visitors and freshmen on campus study the state of the Union (Memorial, that is) on Saturday, they undoubtedly wonder where the students went.

Your student government is working overtime on this problem, that is, how to keep your weekends full of college life and untie those hometown apron strings. If campus social life looks drab to you, you really should take a look in the mirror sometime. Could be that you're not really trying too hard to make college a full-time proposition.

Now I'm not advocating that we all be peas in a pod or any of that old "scouts together" hurrah. We're all a little different, but when you pool those differences in weekend activities and all-campus affairs, a really fine result can be obtained.

Well, how about it? If you don't like this place, you really shouldn't expect to escape it on weekends. Sooner or later, the grass on some other campus will look a lot greener, and you'll be miserable. Most of you will still be around when they pass out diplomas, however. Why? Because this college has got something, yet no one seems to be able to define it.

How about trying the 30-days-in-a-row college test? Stop that running and look around you. If you want Wartburg to be known as the school with the five-day look, okay, but I think, deep down, you're really just as concerned about it as I am.

"I hear you calling me" — but not from the inter-campus in the Union. It has yet to be installed.

Wanderitis: the bug that bites Wartburg students whenever they try to find a place to sit in the cafeteria.

Wednesday night freshman comment: "I'm not even dressed now. They'll probably make me eat with the cooks." How long will it last?

EDITOR SPEAKS

Register's MacDonald Stresses Leadership

In connection with the current celebration of National Newspaper Week, it was my privilege to interview Kenneth MacDonald, editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, following his speech here on Thursday to the students and faculty of Wartburg College.

Since MacDonald's speech before convocations had impressed upon students and faculty alike the need for more and better leadership in our nation and in the world today, I chose to question him, not about leadership in general, but about the position of our Iowa and Midwest newspapers today.

He noted, chiefly, that the outlook on journalism today has changed considerably since the 1920's when he started as a reporter on the Register staff. Those were the days of Ben Hecht and other sensational-type journalists. The important thing in those days was to get a story at any cost.

Gradually, this picture of newspapers has changed. The focus is not entirely on the metropolitan papers, though many of them are in a class by themselves. Rather, it has become the obligation of every independent newspaper organization to compete with the other media of communication available to almost everyone.

Opportunities for good journalists are available on many Midwest paper staffs at present, because these organizations have had to compete on a local level with radio and television. The need is not to replace newspapers in smaller towns and cities, but to increase their readership through better coverage.

When you realize that a city the size of Des Moines is, in effect, a one newspaper town, the concern of Editor MacDonald for better leadership that benefits all people can be better understood.

Knight Life

By Don Claggett

Every year about this time class cuts increase in number, conversation is pointed to one subject, students lose interest in everything but the Union TV and Cotta House gets rich. Of course, the reason for all of this is the World Series.

Spirit ran so high in the Union on the first day of the Series that the students even forgot to take their feet off the furniture when Student Union Director Ray Norheim walked in, and even Dr. Sandberg was left without an offer to have a seat. Why people are so excited about the outcome of the Series is beyond me. It is almost universal knowledge that the Braves will win four games to three.

The World Series isn't the only thing capturing the athletic interest of the students. This afternoon Wartburg plays Upper Iowa in hopes of gaining the second conference victory in three outings for the Knights.

Noisy North Hall is well-equipped this year with forty-odd voices and a homemade sound truck, which Hallers use every Thursday in their weekly pre-game pep rally. It would be good if everyone adopted North Hall's spirit and not only attended, but also cheered loudly at today's game.

A new organization has recently been formed on campus. All we know about it is that the members call themselves BMOC and meet at Ketha House on Friday nights. As far as we know, they are not school-supported.

Wartburg may not have a Tab Hunter or a Debbie Reynolds, but we do have our own Orville Hodge character. Leigh Borgwardt, sophomore, is entered in the Trempealeau County treasurer's race in the dairy state. Look around — you may even find a Sherman Adams on campus.

Here is one worth telling: An upperclassman last Wednesday (wondering whether he should bother to dress up for dinner) called the cafeteria to find out the dinner menu. The sweet coed on the other end of the line replied, "I am sorry. We are not allowed to give that information over the phone." I wonder why?

How are you on law? Did you know that it is illegal to hold a kiss for more than five minutes in the state of Iowa? Or that it is against the law to dance in the dark in North Dakota? When you're old enough to vote, be sure to check your candidate's viewpoint on such issues.

Week's best reverse: the miser who fell asleep nightly blessing his countings.

Apologies are in order for not answering the question sooner. Yes, Kurtz, Loslo and egg-lovers everywhere, Miller is still working at Roy's Place, and he is more willing to displease you this year.

Good Knight-living to all!

Lack Of Enthusiasm, Care, Leads To Disorderly Life

By Willie Everts

"Well, I had intended to study for my test before Outfly, so that I could relax if Outfly came, but I went out for pizza instead. I ended up studying the next day when I should have been enjoying an outing. It seems that something always happens to my good intentions."

Everts

This typical comment seems so standard that it has become a convenient crutch or a catch-all phrase for a general lack of enthusiasm.

We have often heard that "variety is the spice of life." But did you know that the man to whom that quote is attributed was hospitalized for insanity three times during his lifetime?

But a later writer modified this proposition by saying, "Enthusiasm is the spice of life." Upon close reflection, one begins to see that herein lies the key to a richer, fuller meaning to life and its goal.

Be aggressive in your work. As one writer facetiously put it, "Throw yourself into everything you do; that is, unless you are a well digger."

Ask for God's guidance in humble prayer and then set upon your task with determined conviction. You will find that the tasks that you considered unpleasant or burdensome will become easier and even enjoyable. Being "charged with aggression" will become a satisfying accomplishment.

Here's something right down your alley! — LSA's Bowling Party Sunday, October 5. The time is 6:45 p.m. The cost is 40¢ per line. Don't miss the fun. Refreshments will follow. See you at the Bowling Alley, Sunday!

Aryanpur Joins Campus Life

By Winonah Hope

Strains of classical music may often be heard drifting from the Pentagon, a Wartburg annex, as Dr. Manoocher Aryanpur, a new instructor from Iran, enjoys one of his favorite pastimes — listening to records of classical music.

Dr. Aryanpur graduated from the University of Tehran in 1953. The following two years were spent teaching in high school in Gorgan, a city in Iran which is approximately six miles from the Russian border.

He came to the United States in August of 1955, and received his M.A. degree in June of 1956 and his Ph.D. degree in June of 1958. Both degrees were from the University of Colorado. It was during his stay at Boulder that he met his wife.

At Wartburg, Dr. Aryanpur teaches communication skills, world literature and American short stories. He speaks four languages, French and Aramaic in addition to Persian and English.

When asked his impressions of Wartburg College, he replied, "I think it is a wonderful college, and I hope I will get to know my students and faculty members better so that I can try and be of help to my fellowmen. I think the students are especially considerate and polite, and they seem to have a great desire to learn."

Dr. Aryanpur also commented that he thought the standards of Wartburg students were higher than those of many college and university students.

In addition to listening to classical records, Dr. Aryanpur enjoys spending his extra moments camping, swimming or playing ping-pong.

When asked if he missed his homeland, he stated that since his parents are in the United States, he doesn't miss Iran too much. In Iran he has one brother, who is a physician. Dr. Aryanpur stated that he hopes to visit Iran either this summer or the next.

LOVER OF CLASSICS, Dr. Manoocher Aryanpur places another selection on his much-used phonograph.

Not Famous, But Familiar, Is Fruehling

By Tom Christensen

There's a certain gentleman on this campus who vigorously insists he's provided the world with little for which he might possibly be considered as "famous." This same gentleman likewise maintains, with a less degree of vigor, however, that he has accomplished nothing for which he might be labeled as "infamous."

Since it would be fallacious, therefore, to say he is "famous," and facetious to say he is "infamous," perhaps we could consider Prof. Wilmut Fruehling (the "certain gentleman" referred to previously) as being "familiar." It could be said, in truth, that few could find fault with one as favorably familiar as Fruehling.

Fruehling Was Knight

Bill Fruehling was "Knighthood" in the fall of 1937 when he transferred from Hebron Junior College, Hebron, Neb., to attend school at Wartburg. Here at Wartburg he immediately joined the pigskin ranks, where he became a stalwart on the Knight line, playing both guard and tackle.

Wartburg's football coach in those days was Dr. Elmer Hertel, who is currently head of Wartburg's Biology Department. One of Fruehling's teammates was a fellow who now serves Wartburg as dean of students, Earnest Oppermann.

Graduates To Nebraska

After having completed his education at Wartburg, Fruehling began his teaching career at Talmage, Neb. At Talmage he coached football, basketball and track, and was, at the same time, principal of the high school. From Talmage he went to Bemar, Neb., and from Bemar to Deshler, Neb.

Recalling his high school coaching career, Fruehling could not give an exact percentage of games won and lost, but he claims to have "batted over 50 per cent."

His "biggest thrill" in coaching was at Deshler, where he tutored his basketball team into the Nebraska state tournament. The young hoopsters progressed as far as the semifinals before they were stopped.

While doing graduate work at the University of Nebraska in 1943, Fruehling was approached by a Rev. C. H. Becker, superintendent of the Lutheran Children's Home in Waverly. Pastor Becker desired the services of Fruehling in the capacity of boys' director at the Home, which position Fruehling accepted.

Becker Brings Fruehling

In 1945, Superintendent Becker became president of Wartburg College, and the next year Fruehling followed Becker to the campus. Here he has been since 1946 as professor of psychology and education, and as "line coach" for the Knight football squad.

In regard to a "coaching criterion," Fruehling is a staunch advocate of thorough mastery of fundamentals.

"By and large, schools that are well-versed fundamental-wise will come out on top," he stated.

"Especially in football," he continued, "desire is of the utmost importance. Desire comes a little easier in football than in some of the other sports, but this desire naturally includes a lot more work and a lot more sweat. Consequently, it's a lot more fun."

Fruehling heartily believes that the fellows in football have to be concerned with accomplishing things as a team. Each individual must learn to hold up his end of the load and always be prepared to take over for someone else, for the rugged game is prone to produce injured participants.

Coaching His Hobby

Fruehling considers coaching as quite an interesting diversion from his classroom work, and admits that it's easily his favorite hobby.

"Coaching provides me with an opportunity for a type of personal contact which I am not afforded in the classroom. I like to get to know the kids better as individuals rather than as names," he added.

The type of psychology which he employs he expresses in this manner: "I try to impress the boys that they should constantly be aware of their own individual improvement, both on the field and off the field. They should be conscious of an effort to do things a little better each time."

Fruehling is quite enthusiastic about his current line crew. Wartburg has been climbing uphill for many years in athletics and it has finally "arrived." There was a time when it was being considered to drop Wartburg from the Iowa Conference because it provided too little competition for the other schools. It is quite evident that this danger no longer exists.

THAT CONCERNED LOOK in line coach Bill Fruehling's eyes is as familiar to Wartburg linemen and fans as is his friendliness, both on and off the field.

Current Line Tops

"This year's line is the best I've ever coached," said Fruehling. "There's a lot of freshmen and sophomores, but potentially they're tops. They move well, they have good spirit, and in general, they're just a swell bunch of fellows. However, sometimes I think they're a little too nice to be the best. They should be a little meaner."

Fruehling's view on life in general might be summed up this way: "The individual who gets the most out of life does the most he can in service to other lives."

Fruehling is presently working on his doctoral dissertation, which concerns Educational Psychology. He hopes to complete it within the next year.

In regard to his opinion of Wartburg, Fruehling is concise. "If I didn't like it here, I simply wouldn't be here!"

Perhaps it's fortunate for Wartburg that Bill Fruehling is neither "famous" nor "infamous," for in either case, he might possibly cease to be so "favorably familiar" to the Wartburg family.

IM Committee Offers Trophies In '58 Program

By Don Bathgate

A championship trophy will be given this year to the intramural team which acquires the most points during competition in six prominent team sports, according to Intramurals Chairman Dave Jensen.

Sports will include flag football, basketball, softball, volleyball, wrestling and track. Points will be given on the basis of final rank in the standings of each sport. A total of 50 points will be given to the team that cops first place, while the second-place team will receive 40 points, the third-place team 30 points, and the fourth-place team 15 points.

Points will also be given according to the number of men participating in each team sport. Percentage of men playing from each area will be taken into account. An individual will be listed as a participant if he plays in one-third of the games on his team's schedule.

As an added incentive for active participation in the intramural program, a trophy to the most outstanding intramural participant will be presented at the end of the year. The winner will be determined by each area's choosing its candidate for the award and the area captain's presenting the Intramural Committee the arguments why his candidate merits this award.

The Intramurals Committee will then choose the winner on the basis of individual performances in all the sports, sportsmanship and co-operation toward the officials of the game and the Intramurals Committee.

Gridmen Seeking Top Spot

Test UIU At 1:30
On Schield Field

By Gary Beckner

This afternoon at 1:30 Wartburg's football team will play host to the Peacocks of Upper Iowa University in an Iowa Conference game. The Knights will be going for their second win in a row after being tied by Luther two weeks ago.

UIU's venerable coach, Dr. John (Doc) Dorman is in his 55th year as head football coach at the Fayette school. In his almost legendary career Doc's teams have won 140 games, lost 108 and tied 16.

Fresh from a 13-0 win over conference foe Buena Vista, Upper Iowa should be primed and ready for the Knights with a top spot in the Conference standings riding on the outcome of the game.

This year the Peacocks are fielding the youngest and heaviest team in their 55 years of football. They will depend heavily on freshman, caused by the loss of Little All-American Terry Stevens and other key backs.

Wartburg's defense has been the strong point in its two games thus far. Both Wartburg touchdowns in season play have been a result of long runs, one a pass interception and the other a punt return. Only Luther has penetrated the Knight goal line in a 6-6 tie Sept. 20.

Knights' lineup probably will include Ray Boyens and Wayne Dreier at the ends with Ron Krueger and Jack Reents at the tackles. Jim Arjes and Don Sahling will man the guard spots and Larry Collman will be at center.

Marv Ott will be at his familiar quarterback post, and Dave Jensen and Tom Van Wyngarden will be at halfbacks. Larry Raper will play at fullback.

LOOKING BACK

Knights Defense Parsons 7-0

By Don Claggett

Field lights were on, night air was cold, the flag was raised and the coin was tossed as the stadium-filling crowd settled down to witness the Wartburg Knights defeat Parsons College at Fairfield, 7-0, last Saturday night.

Wartburg received the initial kick-off and immediately showed its offensive power by gaining two first downs in five plays. Parsons' defense then hardened and, after stopping halfback Dave Jensen at the line, forced the Knights to call on the educated toe of Wayne Dreier to put the ball into the Parsons' end zone.

Wildcats Lose Ground

Failure to gain a first down caused the Wildcats to punt out of danger. Jensen ran the pigskin back to the Parsons 45, and the Knights took to the air, only to have a toss from Marv Ott to Jensen intercepted by the Wildcats. Parsons then moved the ball across mid-field into Wartburg territory before the Knights' front wall could stop them.

Quarterback Ott started the Knight offensive rolling as he handed off to halfbacks Jensen and Tom Van Wyngarden. By "Keeping" on key plays, he was able to gain three first downs and place the Knights inside Parsons' 15-yard line.

Knights Halted On One

An alert halfback once again stopped the Knights as he pulled down Ott's pass attempt on the one-yard line. Tom Van Wyngarden ran the pigskin back to the Parsons' 22-yard line, spoiling its attempt to kick out of danger. A Wartburg fumble, a Parsons recovery and the half ended without a score on the board.

Alert line-backer Jim Arjes recovered a Wildcat fumble on the 12, and it appeared as if the scoring ice would be broken. After failing to gain yardage on three plays, the Jomen decided to try a field goal, but it sailed off to the right.

Denny Krominga started the second half with a kick-off to the Parsons three. Parsons played the ball to the Wartburg 35 on a first down and a good punt. Wartburg once again failed to score after moving the ball within Parsons' 15.

Parsons Threatens

Parsons on its own 20-yard line called on its reserve gun, freshman Lowell Jackson, who responded to the challenge by moving the game into Wartburg's territory. A 15-yard penalty and a Jackson carry for 15 yards put the pigskin on Wartburg's five.

The fourth quarter saw Wartburg passing with success to threaten again. A Wartburg fumble, however, ended the threat, and Parsons took over, only to be pushed back by Van Wyngarden and penalties.

Jensen Journeys

Scoreboard clock showed eight minutes and 45 seconds had passed in the fourth quarter as Parsons punted to the Wartburg 40. Dave Jensen received and returned the kick 60 yards with the aid of good blocking to score the Wartburg touchdown.

Denny Krominga place-kicked the pigskin through the uprights to make the score 7-0. The game ended with Wartburg marching toward the goal line once again.

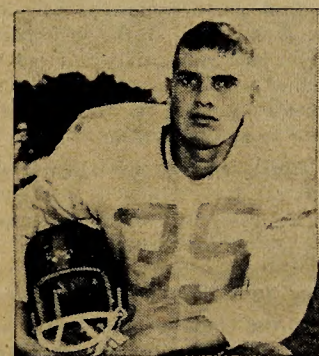

Locomotive?

Cheer squad will lead the home fans in enthusiasm at Schield Stadium this afternoon when the Jomen clash with Upper Iowa's Peacocks.

Lineman Of The Week

Mueller

Trumpet's second Lineman of the Week is freshman Bob Mueller from Waverly. Mueller received three votes, with senior Jack Reents and junior Jim Arjes each named on one ballot. One judge's ballot was missing this week.

Mueller turned in several key plays last Saturday as a defensive end and was particularly responsible for stopping the thrusts of hard-running Parsons fullback, Lowell Jackson.

Picking Up Splinters

By Wilbur Flachman

Space in this column isn't usually designated for advertising, but the time has come to remind all pigskin followers that an outstanding caliber of football is before them when the 1958 Wartburg Knights take the field.

Coach Norm Johansen, in his seventh year as head mentor at Wartburg, has turned out a squad that is loaded with drive and determination. The Jomen showed a stingy defense in the first two games, when Parsons and Luther, two of the Iowa Conference's most potent clubs in the past three years, were limited to one touchdown between them. That TD came late in the Luther game when the Norse, pre-season favorites, managed to tie Wartburg 6-6.

Until the last half of the Parsons contest, the Knight offense had failed to show a great deal of authority. Costly fumbles hurt Wartburg scoring chances in both contests when the Knights were nearing the double-chalks. Potentially, though, Wartburg's backfield is one of the best in the conference.

With Marv Ott and his understudy, Leroy Boseneiler, operating at quarterback, and speed merchants Tom Van Wyngarden and Dave Jensen at halfbacks, Wartburg has the nucleus for an excessively fast ground and air attack. These four, along with hard-running Larry Raper at fullback, began to operate with efficiency on the ground in the final half of the Parsons game last week, indicating that the offensive machine is in motion once more.

Support is very necessary for a winning team, and lack of this, hurt the Knights last weekend. It is difficult to win on the road and play top football when there are only about 25-30 followers behind you. That is the number of Wartburgers who went to Fairfield last weekend to watch a fired-up Parsons team hold the Knights to a 0-0 deadlock at half-time. These were the same 25-30 people who witnessed Dave Jensen's dazzling 68-yard punt return that brought new life into the Knights and gave them a 7-0 win and an important moral victory as well.

This same team spirit and desire is another thing that makes the Knights' 1958 picture more rosy. Several observers feel that the Jomen are a year away, but the entire team make it no secret that they want the conference championship this year.

Alumni and area fans will find it worthwhile to watch one of the most powerful teams in Knight history take the field. The Homecoming tilt with Iowa Wesleyan shapes up to be one of the top games in the conference right now.

Wesleyan, offensively, is one of the top small college teams in the nation at present. Dave Leatherby, Tiger quarterback, is fourth in the United States in passing and tenth in total offense. Don Lewis of Wesleyan is 18th in the United States in pass receiving.

The Yankee's Casey Stengel doesn't have a thing on Upper Iowa Coach "Doc" Dorman. "Doc" is starting his 55th year as a coach, during which time he has won 140 games, lost 108 and tied 16. Like Casey, he has picked up a few tricks of his own over the years, and one of his most successful tricks is beating Wartburg.

WHIRLED AFFAIRS

Man Must Reason For Peace

By Naaman Laiser

The present world political situation is characterized by numerous little disputes arising from discontent, which in turn is caused by lack of understanding between the nations or bodies concerned.

Is man living in the 20th century and still hasn't learned to understand himself even during this age of planning space travel?

The improved means of transportation and communication and the development of highly destructive weapons have greatly increased any sense of insecurity and fear that man might naturally have had.

No longer can small-scale disputes be confined to the localities directly affected, and there are numerous such troubles occurring from day to day. The nations of the world are now living under a constant threat of war. A war capable of annihilating, not only the human race, but also many other forms of life, animal and vegetable.

This state of affairs of necessity puts mankind into a situation whereby it must choose. Choice is between peace and disorder, prosperity and poverty, life and death. The human race is facing a crisis.

Present and potential resources available to mankind can be utilized to the betterment of life in this world. However, they can also be used to the detriment of existence of life in our world.

Tensions that continually spring up like mushrooms, often lasting only for a little while, will probably take a different course some day. A global war that has been threatening for years now might eventually result. Probably not.

The Middle East crisis was a riddle a few weeks ago. However, the matter has cooled down. Will the Chinese troubles also cool down, or will the world be plunged into the most bloody war in the history of civilization — and probably it could be the last? Only time can tell.

No doubt it is fair to think

CHESS CORNER

Campus Chess Exhibition Meets With Initial Success

By Bill Goetz

The small dining room of the Student Union cafeteria was the scene last night of a battle of wits between an outstanding chess expert and twelve eager opponents. In playing all these chess-players at one time, George Barnes, Twin Cities chess champion, yielded them a considerable advantage, as they had twelve times as much time to consider their moves.

Most of the players appeared undismayed that their opponent had once placed fifth in a national championship tournament and had won state titles seventeen times. Seven were Wartburg students; five, members of the Cedar Valley Chess Club of Waterloo.

Ed Zaiser, Wartburg sophomore from Oshkosh, Wis., obtained a win with a forced checkmate in two moves on about move thirty, which Barnes had overlooked, in the first game completed.

In the next eight games finished Barnes won with his opponents dropping out in this order: Jerry Bentz, Don Claggett, Larry Finn, V. R. Smith, John Osness, Roger Holler, Fritz Donath and LaQuita Mager.

Miss Mager, the only feminine participant, displayed unusual chessplaying strength for a girl (few women seem to play chess, and even fewer, well), according to Barnes, who said she had obtained a winning advantage in the long contest but had faltered near the end. Her game lasted nearly sixty moves (average for a game of chess is forty.)

Shortly after, Larry Bielenberg, Wartburg sophomore from Inglewood, California, emerged the victor in a sixty-move gruelling encounter with his renowned opponent. Barnes said later that Bielenberg had exhibited the best play of the participants, in that his win was not due to weak play on Barnes' part, but to his own tenacious play in never once yielding the exhibitor any sort of advantage.

Next game completed was lost by Herman Hein, who had started play late. In the final game, Barnes defeated Bill Goetz in an endgame going sixty-nine moves. Barnes said that Goetz had obtained a drawing position at move twenty but exchanged queens prematurely, yielding the exhibitor the narrow margin of one pawn which proved sufficient.

Final score for the exhibitor was thus ten wins and two losses. In a recent exhibition at St. Thomas College in St. Paul, Barnes had no losses in twenty-four games. He congratulated the Wartburg students for winning two of their seven games and said that he expects Wartburg could be field a very strong four-man team in the National Intercollegiate Championship this year.

The chess club will meet next Friday evening at 7:30 at a place to be announced later. All persons interested in participating in a qualification tournament to determine team members and alternates are urged to attend, as well as those who have never played chess.

Dr. C. H. Becker, college president, made opening remarks at the exhibition and carried out the first move at each board as directed by the exhibitor. This columnist issues an open invitation to Dr. Becker, as well as any other interested member of the college administration or faculty: Name the time and place, and we'll be there to teach you the game if at all possible in our crowded schedule.

Fortress organizational pictures will be taken Sunday, October 12, from 1-5 in the Gym, according to senior Larry Everett, editor.

Danish Nat'l Orchestra To Open Series

By Bill Goetz

Final event of 1958 Homecoming festivities and the opening of the Artist Series for 1958-59 — two of Wartburg's finest traditions — is a concert by the Danish National Orchestra on Sunday, Oct. 26, beginning at 8 p.m. in Knights Gym.

Touring the United States for the second time, following a highly successful tour six years ago, the orchestra will present a mixed program of standard symphonic works and Danish music under the batons of Thomas Jensen and John Frandsen, conductors.

The 96-member orchestra, under the patronage of His Majesty, King Frederik IX of Denmark, will devote its program to a great extent to works by their own great composer, Carl Nielsen, and Weber, Dvorak, Brahms, Beethoven, Mozart, Strauss and Debussy, among others.

The Vienna Academy Chorus will be the second feature of the Artist Series, Nov. 23. Directed by Guenther Theuring, the group will present a three-part program consisting of standard choral works, Viennese music and folk music, including yodeling. Each vocalist in the 24-member group is also an instrumentalist, with members of the group often accompanying.

On Feb. 19, 1959, Jose Greco and his Spanish Ballet will appear at Wartburg as part of their fifth American tour. The group has performed extensively throughout Europe, as well as in America, being well-received by peoples of all lands.

Greco, an Italian, became one of the world's finest Spanish dancers after an interest in Flamenco dancing led to his work with the Spanish dance.

One of the all-time high lights of Artist Series presentations throughout the years at Wartburg will be the concert by Marian Anderson on March 24. Having sung extensively in the Western Hemisphere and Europe, Miss Anderson recently completed a highly successful good-will tour through the Far East under the sponsorship of the State Department. A critic once said that the greatest of voices seem to be limited to one in a century, and that Miss Anderson is that voice of our time.

Each of these concerts is to be held in Knights Gym, beginning at 8 P.M. Further information and tickets may be obtained by writing Dr. A. W. Swenson, Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa.

Tickets for Wartburg students will be available Thursday, Oct. 16, and Friday, Oct. 17. Each student should bring his student activity ticket to the Treasurer's Office to receive a ticket for the concert by the Danish National Orchestra. This ticket reserves a seat in the Gym for the night of the performance. There is no extra charge for these tickets.

It is possible for a student to pick up tickets for his friends, if he brings their activity tickets with him. Faculty members as well as students will receive their tickets through the Treasurer's Office. You are advised to get to the Treasurer's Office early to obtain a good seat.

Land Of Lakes Invites Actors

Wartburg's Drama Department has been asked to participate in a special dramatic production as a part of the Minnesota Centennial Celebration Oct. 23 through Nov. 2.

Dramatic departments of St. Olaf, Augsburg, Concordia, the University of Minnesota and Wartburg will each present a scene of a special script written by James Kerr of "One" magazine.

Overall production will be supervised by the Drama Department of the University of Minnesota. The production will be taken on tour beginning Oct. 23 with the final presentation in Minneapolis Nov. 2.

Wartburg's scene contains two male parts, but will require four men, since the parts will be alternating. Lestrud asks that interested persons contact him immediately. The tour is all-expense paid.

HOMEcoming FINALE for 1958 will be the Sunday evening presentation by the Danish National Orchestra, first program for the Artist Series 1958-59.

Art Department Obtains Originals

Coming attraction for the Wartburg Art Department from Oct. 6 to 18 will be a display of original, signed etchings and lithographs by contemporary, internationally known artists.

After the display period, students will vote for two prints, which the college will then purchase, according to Miss Helen Wright, Art Department head.

"Winter in the Rockies" by Adolf Dehn is from a scene near Miss Wright's cabin in Colorado. Two other famous artists and prints on display are Aaron Bohrod's "Street in Noumea" and Thomas A. Benton's "White Calf."

"These prints are objective and quite realistic compared to what one might think of when referring to modern art," Miss Wright explained.

Charlie Will Have Aunt When Thespians Present

Tryouts for the fall Wartburg Players production of "Charlie's Aunt" by Borden Thomas will be held next Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 7 and 8, from 4 to 5:30 p.m. in the Little Theater, announced by Vernon Lestrud, director.

Described by Lestrud as "one of the most famous comedies of all time," the production has parts for six men and four women. The play has been made into a movie called "Where's Charlie?" and starring Ray Bolger.

Rehearsals will start Oct. 13 with performance dates scheduled for Nov. 20, 21 and 22.

"All students are cordially invited to try out," stated Lestrud, adding that the Drama Department will most likely present "Charlie's Aunt" in Ackley at the invitation of the Ackley Women's Club. Tentative date for the Ackley trip has been set for Dec. 5.

Remaining productions for the year are the Gilbert and Sullivan musical "Patience," to be given March 6, 7 and 8, and the presentation of the three winning entries of the Iowa State One-Act Play Contest on May 7, 8 and 9.

I'm A New Knightie

As Told to Grace Jahn

Hi! My name is Kimberly Kay Kronquist (Kim for short), and I'm one of Wartburg's newest personalities. In fact, I've lived in this world only since June 18.

For the benefit of those of you who don't already know me, I live in Wartburg Hall. My mommy is "Mrs. K.," the housemother, and everyone calls my daddy the "housefather," so I guess that makes me the "housebaby!"

When I arrived in Denver, Colo., last June, I weighed all of five pounds, eight ounces, but the food around here agrees with me. Now I tip the scales at about 12 pounds. What's my diet? Well, I like all cereals, fruits and vegetables, except beets. I just close my mouth when I see beets coming!

Having 92 sisters doesn't bother me too much because I really enjoy all the attention I get. I can't forget to mention the free baby-sitting service.

Although you might think living in a girls' dorm is rather hectic or at least extremely noisy, it doesn't bother me a bit. I even slept through Outfly.

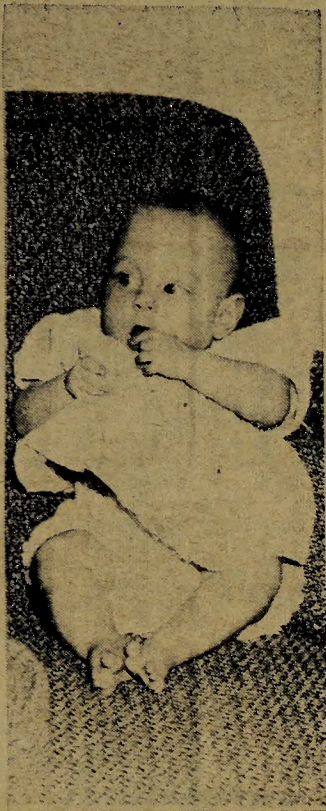

My mommy says I'm learning to be a woman because I love to talk. She says that my favorite word sounds like a foghorn in reverse.

The next time you happen to drop into Wartburg Hall, don't forget to say "Hi!" to me, Kimberly Kay Kronquist.

4 ATTEND CONFERENCE

Dr. C. H. Becker, president of Wartburg, Miss Stella Austerud, Geography Department, Mrs. Lola Reppert, Social Work, and Mrs. Margaret Garland, Journalism Department, attended the Governor's Conference on Children and Youth at ISTC in Cedar Falls yesterday.

Other faculty and student attendance at the Conference was tentatively planned.

"YOU FRESHMEN GIRLS shouldn't complain about your hours — I have to go to bed at 7 every night."

Keep Off The Grass

Please Use the Sidewalks. Much money has been spent providing sidewalks for your convenience and I'm sure that those who are not using them would be the first to complain if there were none. Your cooperation would be appreciated. E. F. O.

Bar Will Meet

Bremer-Butler County Bar Association will hold its October meeting in the Wartburg cafeteria small dining room at 6:30 p.m. Monday. The group will be guests of Wartburg College.

Pres. C. H. Becker and the Rev. Martin Ackermann, development director, will inform the group's 24 members of the progress, program and plans for the future of Wartburg College.

Richard Leslie is chairman of the Association.

Wartburg Invited To Submit Names For Fellowships

Wartburg College has been invited to submit two or three nominations to the Danforth Foundation for the 1959-1960 Danforth Graduate Fellowships.

College senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1959, for their first year of graduate study are invited to apply.

Applicants are especially welcomed from the areas of natural and biological sciences, social sciences and humanities.

The qualifications of the candidates should include outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, integrity, character and serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

Those interested should get in touch with Dean J. O. Chellevold soon, for the applications must be submitted by Jan. 31, 1959.

Tripping With The Trio

Nothing to do, no place to go, no one to love us, so rather than study, we are drowning our sorrows in Den coffee and conjuring up a column. Glub! Glub! Glub!

Oooooo! Buy your tickets from the Trio. Wartburg has nothing planned for after the Pancake Supper Sunday. There will be a "Cry Row" party at the Drive-In.

Remember, Revlon does not put out the only pancake mix on campus. Sunday night the Wartburg Choir is trying its hand, beginning at 5 p.m. at the cafeteria. Buy your tickets from any Choir member.

Temperance! Temperance! Temperance! Mendacity! Mendacity! Mendacity! Harold Schlachtenhaufen will tell us the reason for the "State of Iowa's Humidity" in a speech outside the Town Pump, Saturday at 9 p.m. (Echoes of Initiation).

Honestly! Your vocational vocabulary is much too copious for my diminutive comprehension. Would you please elucidate more explicitly?

Hail! Hail! Hail! The team's all here! Whadda-whadda we care, as long as we get our share. That share had better be a victory.

All alley cats dig this news! The LSA bowling party will be held Sunday, Oct. 5, at 6:45 p.m. Refreshments follow the party. This should be a howling success.
